2.2 Technical Session I: People's Plan Campaign for preparation of Panchayat Development Plans

Smt. Rekha Yadav, Joint Secretary, MoPR presented an overview on the People's Plan campaign highlighting the achievements since the campaign began in 2018. The experience during the last few years has shown that the Gram Panchayat Development Plans are being prepared across the count.

The focus should now be on quality of GDPDs rather than quantity. The Unique elements of the campaign are Gram Sabhas, Facilitators, Mission Antyodaya data and the e-GramSwaraj initiative for uploading the GDPDs. The previous campaigns have shown the following key elements:

Smt. Rekha Yadav, JS, MoPR

- Single Gram Sabhas in more than 90 per cent of GPs.
- Need for participation of community and officials from the line departments in the Gram Sabhas
- More focus on IEC activities during the campaign
- Enlarging the resource envelope to include the funds of line departments.

The presentation highlighted the monitoring the progress of campaign during 2021 and analysed the participation in the gram sabhas. Maharashtra has the highest participation rate based on the Facilitators' report and states like Karnataka, Kerala, Tamilnadu, Puducherry and Lakshadweep are yet to begin the process. The following interventions of the Ministry were highlighted in the presentation:

- Evidence based Planning
- Sustainable Development Goals
- Self Help Groups and Community Mobilisation
- Holistic Planning

The presentation highlighted the system to reinforce evidence based planning and improve the decision making at State, District, Block and Gram Panchayat level through Panchayat Decision Support System and also the Planning and Reporting Dash Board. The need for capacity building and handholding support to the Panchayats was highlighted in the presentation.

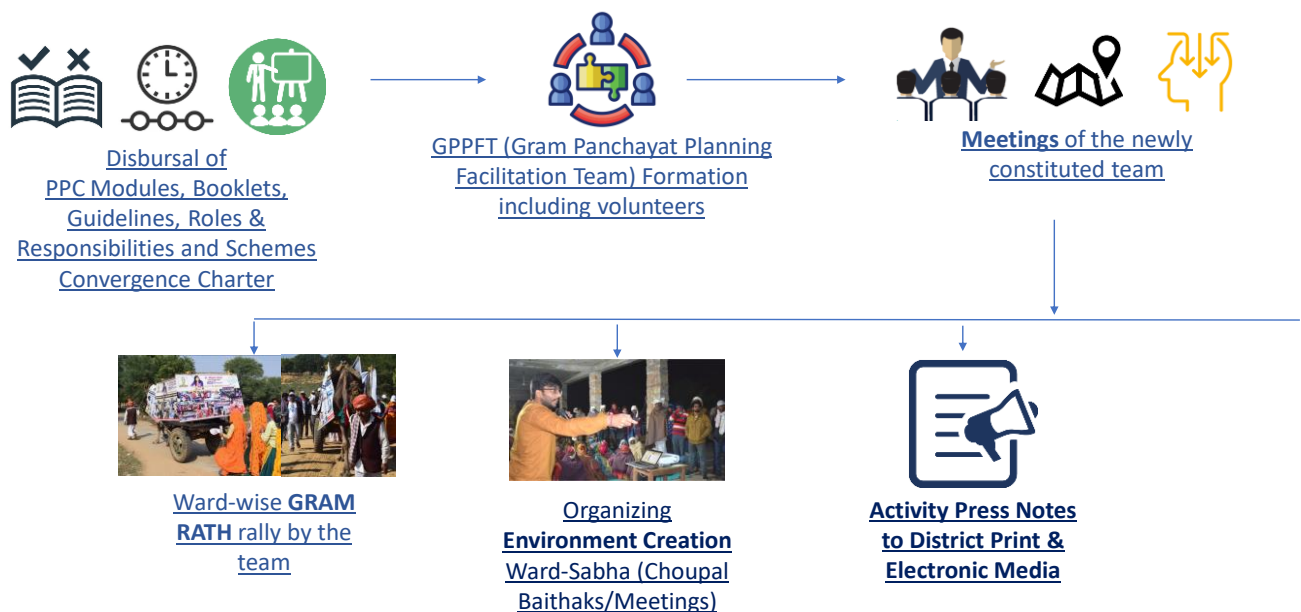

The second presentation by Sri. Vipra Goel, Consultant, MoPR, highlighted the need for Modern IEC activities for Integrated Panchayat Planning. The 5 principles of PPC to ensure the success of planning are:

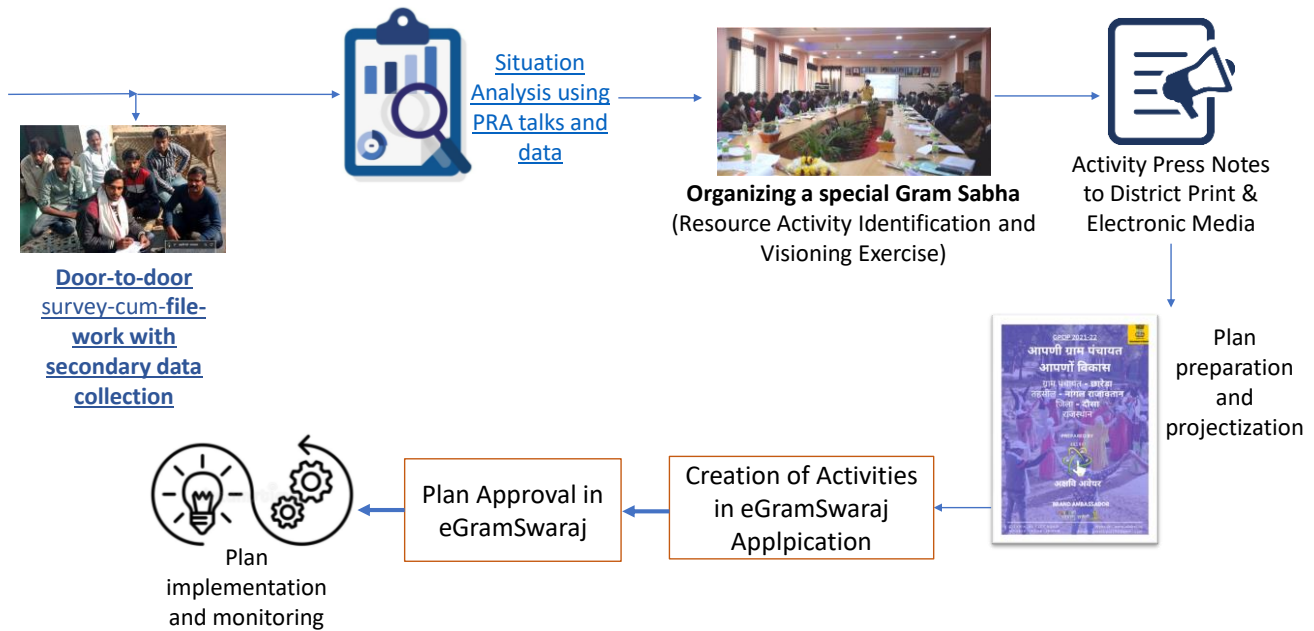

- Impartiality
- Technical Expertise
- Awareness
- Community Involvement
- Vigilance

It was emphasised that in order to ensure the above, a modern IEC strategy is required focussing on the following:

Modern IEC Strategy for People's Plan Campaign (RGSA) | Environment Generation

Model Plan for People's Plan Campaign (RGSA) | GPDP Making

The proposed integrated Gram Panchayat Development Plan should identify the needs of the community focussing on micro level strategy that would directly benefit the community. A suitable Model plan for PPC should focus more on two important issues. Firstly, the plan should include e-Modules, Implementation Guidelines, Roles & Responsibilities of different functionaries (frontline workers, facilitators and nodal officers) involved and Schemes Convergence Charter for holistic planning. Secondly the focus should be on distributing them to various functionaries like GP facilitators, line department officials etc. through proper channel on cascading mode. The presentation also highlighted the success of various initiatives in Panchayats across different states.

2.3 Technical Session II: Integration of Disaster Management Plans with GPDP

The presentation highlighted the major achievements, challenges and strategies to be adopted for the successful preparation of Village Poverty Reduction Plans.

The need for Evidence based and Data driven Panchayat Planning was highlighted by Dr. Anjan Kumar Bhanja, in his presentation. The approach for this is as follows:

Dr. Anjan Kumar Bhanja
Associate Professor, NIRDPR

- Evidence based means that the best available data, information and knowledge are used to make decisions.
- Evidence-based planning is harnessing the knowledge gained from data and information and using it to optimize our planning process and improve results.
- Evidence-based planning uses the evidence i.e. data, information and knowledge as the foundation for deciding what should be done.
- There appears information gap between real needs and Panchayat Planning.
- Plans should be prepared using necessary and sufficient data, as evidence of the ground realities and real needs.

In order to ensure the above, preparatory steps to be taken and sources of secondary data availability are required for effective preparation of Panchayat plans.

2.5 Technical Session IV: People's Plan Campaign – Experience sharing

The session focussed on experience sharing by elected representatives of Kerala, Gujarat, Tamilnadu, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka and Gujarat. Highlights of the presentation are:

Dr. Deepika Shetty, (MAHE)

The presentation by Dr. Deepika Shetty, Manipal Academy of Higher Education (MAHE) highlighted the importance of spatial planning for rural areas.

It highlighted the need for proper land use planning based on sound scientific, and technical procedures, and land utilization strategies, supported by participatory approaches empowers people to make decisions on how to appropriately allocate and utilize land and its resources catering to the present and future demands of the communities. The experience preparation of spatial plans in two Panchayats in Udupi district was shared with the participants. The planning process for such development of these rural areas needs to be an envisioning process requiring a sound professional assessment of the ground situation and providing options for sustainable development within the bounds of demographic, physical, socio-economic, jurisdictional and financial aspects. An important outcome of such a planning process inter alia will also be the demarcation of a clear roadmap for immediate and future sources of Own Sources of Revenue (OSR) for the GPs making them self-reliant.

The presentation by Sri. Anuj Tiwari, National Disaster Management Authority, focussed on the importance of Disaster Management at Local level since the community will be the first receivers and responders during any natural disaster.

Sri. Anuj Tiwari, NDMA

Various provisions related to local bodies in the Disaster Management Act, 2005, were highlighted in the presentation. The ten key elements of Disaster Risk Reduction consist of the following:

- All development sectors must imbibe the principles of disaster risk management
- Risk coverage must include all, starting from poor households to SMEs to multi-national corporations to nation states
- Women's leadership and greater involvement should be central to disaster risk management
- Invest in risk mapping globally to improve global understanding of Nature and disaster risks
- Leverage technology to enhance the efficiency of disaster risk management efforts
- Develop a network of universities to work on disaster-related issues
- Utilise the opportunities provided by social media and mobile technologies for disaster risk reduction
- Build on local capacity and initiative to enhance disaster risk reduction
- Make use of every opportunity to learn from disasters and, to achieve that, there must be studies on the lessons after every disaster
- Bring about greater cohesion in international response to disasters

It was highlighted that the Panchayats should play an active role in the mitigation of disaster and also develop a Gram Panchayat Development Plan that would focus on risk reduction factors and activities.

2.7 Technical Session VI: Localising Sustainable Development Goals

The states have taken number of initiatives in achieving many of the targets of sustainable development goals with support from line Ministries. However, there is a felt need to take the SDG approach to the grassroots level through effective involvement of Panchayats and the community in rural areas. The key areas of interventions could be:

- Leaving no village behind
- Need to focus on climate change issues to overcome natural disasters
- Children friendly Panchayats
- Focus on gender issues and violence against women
